

Dear colleague,

We would like to invite you to participate in the STEM Women Global Network project.

STEM Women Global aims to increase the visibility of women in all areas of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) and to provide a valuable resource for promoting gender equity.

Experts can be found on the STEM Women Global online platform by searching for expertise, location, opportunities and other diversity attributes. The platform is modelled on the successful STEM Women Asia project at stemwomen.asia.

With your support, STEM Women Global will enable thousands of women from a range of scientific disciplines to be offered exciting opportunities to progress their careers.

The project is being led by the Australian Academy of Science with the support of the InterAcademy Partnership (IAP), the Network of African Science Academies (NASAC), the Inter-American Network of Academies of Sciences (IANAS) and the Association of Academies and Societies of Sciences in Asia (AASSA).

Your invitation

You are invited to create an expert profile that will be featured on the platform. The platform will be launched on 10 November 2022. We encourage you to create a profile now. Creating a profile is quick and easy!

Please visit stemwomen.global/create-profile to create your profile.
